There was a child went forth every day,
And the first object he look'd upon, that object he became,
And that object became part of him for the day or a certain part of the day,
Or for many years or stretching cycles of years.

Walt Whitman, from "There Was a Child Went Forth"

Q. How important was the academic aspect of Millsaps life to you?

A. I'm a pre-med focus, so I spend a lot of my time studying. I really hope all this studying pays off, and I get into med school! My senior year was fun, but it was a lot of hard work.

Marin Dawson

Q. What was the hardest part of making the climb up "the wall?"

A. It was kind of hard to keep my balance, and the grips were a little soft. I'm a part of the Major Productions team, and we just thought it would be a good study break for a Friday afternoon. If only all of school were so fun . . .

Ryan Vincent

Q. How did you get involved in the MultiCultural Festival, and what did you enjoy most about it?

A. I was taking lessons from Jim Frachette at Dance Connection. His partner didn't show for the MultiCultural Festival, so I had to fill in. Since I'm so into dancing, watching all the different kinds of dancing and participating were the best parts of the festival.

Q. Were the Freshman Olympics a good experience for you? What was the best part?

A. Yes, it was wonderful! Freshman Olympics was the first time that the freshman guys and girls were really interacting with each other. It was great fun!

Kolie Wegner

Q. Speaking as a residential assistant, what was it like to be on the other side of move-in day?

A. As an R.A. we were kept quite busy checking people in and answering various questions. Move-in day is usually a very hectic time, but this year it seemed to run more smoothly and was more organized.

Shelly Byrd

Q. What did you consider to be the best or worst part about moving into the dorm?

A. The best thing about moving to school was doing whatever I wanted to do whenever I wanted to do it. Moving all of my things into the dorm wasn't really that bad.

Q. What was the Angel Tree, and why did you choose to get involved?

A. Besides helping those in need, the most rewarding aspect of community service is seeing the enthusiasm of other students becoming involved in campus projects. This Christmas, Millsaps students, faculty, and staff adopted over seventy children from the annual Salvation Army Angel Tree which was sponsored by Circle K.

Peyton Hays

Q. What was your favorite community service event this year, and why did you enjoy it so much?

A. Santa Shoestring was my favorite community service activity this year by far. The kids were hilarious, and I had a great time with them. I also loved getting the chance to participate in a service activity that brought people from all over our campus together.

Mandi Wallis

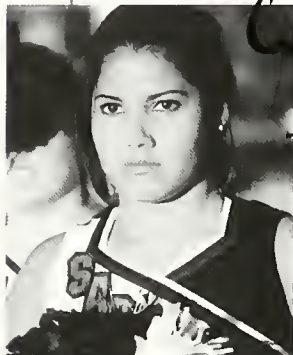

Q. Why did you participate in philanthropy events?

A. Participating in campus-wide service projects such as Midtown and Shoestring has always been rewarding for me. Perhaps the best part, however, is spending time with Millsaps students outside of our normal stratified environment.

Adele Dauphin

Reunion weekend draws campus together

Q. What were your impressions of your first Millsaps Homecoming?

A. Homecoming this year was so much fun. I loved everything about it: the tailgating, the crowd, the presentation of the court at halftime. It was so great to cheer at my first college homecoming; then everything else just came together.

Maria Anzola

Q. What did it feel like to sit in the crowd at the football game?

A. Well, I guess that the crowd was radiating excitement. The football game was so intense. What I remember most was all of us yelling into the megaphone for the team and then yelling at the other team and making fun of them.

Rich Caminita

Q. What was it like to be crowned queen of the Homecoming Court?

A. My family made Homecoming a wonderful event for me. Being named Homecoming Queen was simply the icing on the cake.

A weekend of food, music, dancing, and fun

Q. Who was to blame for all of the whipped cream covering you?

A. Chi Omega was to blame for the new line of mousse in my hair. Here I was volunteering my face for our pie toss and ended up covered in whipped cream! Thank goodness there was a dunking booth to rinse off in!

Andrea Klevan

Q. Did your cafeteria dining experience change during Major Madness?

A. The food was definitely better, especially the grapes, but I think that the best part was that we could go and come as we pleased.

Emily Merriman

Q. What was it like to be in the dunking booth?

A. Hmmm...what can I say about the dunking booth? I would have to say being in the dunking booth this year was far more exciting than last year. This was due to the surplus of sunlight and people that participated in our efforts to raise money for IFC. Being a Dunkee also had its advantages. I was able to wash off the whipped cream after the Chi Omega Pie Toss. Overall, I give M.M. two thumbs up.

Traditions and fun
change with the seasons

Q. What were your impressions about the various holidays and celebrations that happened on campus?

A. Celebrations are more oriented towards Christianity. Annual events (such as the Tri Beta Christmas party) build up a lot of momentum over the years. If someone wants to change this tradition, it will take more energy than simply starting a new celebration on campus.

Andrew O'Dell

Q. Why did you choose to worship on campus in services such as Ash Wednesday, as opposed to going somewhere else?

A. Having Mass on campus not only provides close community environment, but for students like me, who have no car and don't want to be a burden to someone else for transportation, it's really a double blessing. Also, I think having the ecumenical services really gives the campus an opportunity to come together. No matter what any individual's denomination is, we are celebrating with each other.

Intramurals offer healthy competition

Q. What was the most enjoyable aspect of playing intramural sports?

A. The thing I remember most this year was the Purple and White article about ex-soccer players in intramurals. I wonder if Steve Scott thinks it's fair that I used to play football!

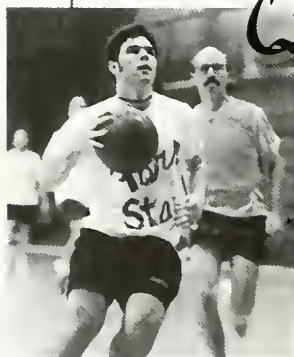

Patrick Anderson

Q. What was the most memorable part of intramurals this year?

A. Playing intramurals built a lot of strength between my freshman friends and me. Because we played against different sororities, it really kept us close and encouraged a feeling of sisterhood.

Keely Mixon

Q. What made you decide to play intramural basketball this year, and where did you come up with your team name, the Porn Starz?

A. I played with some guys in my fraternity, and that was fun because it gave us a chance to work together as a team. The name? You don't want to know.

Q. How did the construction on campus affect your school year?

A. I think that we will forget about the little construction chaos when we are relaxing and having a cup of coffee in the new Kava House! I can't help it if I like coffee.

Rachel Spear

Q. What were your thoughts on the construction and various changes taking place at Millsaps?

A. I think it is great that I will be able to witness the total renovation of the campus for the treatment of our college experience. Millsaps is working hard toward catering to our needs, and I think there is no better way to enhance the times that we share as a community at Millsaps than to provide a face lift for the campus and an upgrade in facilities. I personally am looking forward to the new weight room facilities so that the football team can train in a new environment and also make the same types of changes that will improve the Millsaps football program as well as the rest of the college.

Jared White

Civing

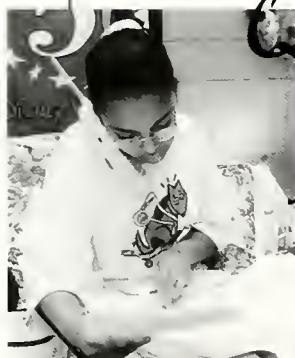

Making friends and adjustments

Q. You survived a freshman and an upperclass dorm. What was the best thing about living in Ezelle?

A. I loved living in Ezelle this year because my friends and I got to live on the same hall. It was also nice to be so close to the fraternity houses.

Debbie Abuso

Q. After living in Franklin and Bacot dorms as a freshman, which one did you prefer and why?

A. I liked Franklin better than Bacot because of the sink in the room. It was nice to have a washer and dryer on every floor in Bacot, and I think it was more quiet. But the sink was still great!

Melissa Quinn

Q. What did your hall stand for during the Freshman Olympics?

A. Let's just say that Franklin Third South lived up to our reputation we established at the Olympics! We really had a great time getting to know each other and our class.

Q. Why did you decide to go on the Saltillo trip? What did you find most rewarding about your trip?

A. As a new Catholic, I knew the trip to Saltillo would reinforce my beliefs. Spending a week with the team in Mexico has made me respect them for standing up for what they believe in. It just does something for your soul to help others. It helped us more by helping them.

Sandi Pullen

Q. What was the most valuable thing you learned from your travels abroad?

A. I was so surprised at people's views of Mississippi. Hollywood really does shape the way that we look at other cultures. For example, if someone discovered that I was from Mississippi, the response was, "I am so sorry. I have seen Mississippi Burning." In trying to reshape these views about the South, I have discovered how southern I am. I had to go away to actually confront parts of my heritage. I guess what I am essentially saying is that studying abroad will enhance an individual's self-awareness.

THE INSIDE TRACK

Maria Anzola

As captain, junior Amy Brazda provided leadership, support, and experience to the squad.

A fresher, friendlier cheerleading squad?

The cheerleaders pepped up a three-day corporate meeting for Jitney Jungle, which in return donated one thousand dollars to the squad.

The football team was not the only group excited about the Homecoming game. Sponsor Shelly Breland expressed the squad's enthusiasm about cheering at the school's first night game.

Spreading their spirit around the community: the cheerleaders helped judge local high school tryouts.

David Chambers, the revered Millsaps Major, won the Most Outstanding Mascot Award as well as the Most Spirited Award at a camp. The squad also received instruction through a private camp put on by the NCA.

Under the lights: the Homecoming game was the first night game the Majors had played in over fifty years.

Offensive lineman

Byron Blackwell and linebacker George Lumm were named third team All-South Region as well as All-SCAC first team.

Lumm led the defense with 121 tackles on the season.

Wes Ingram was the number one receiver with twenty-five catches and 364 yards. Ingram was rewarded with a NCAA post-graduate scholarship and was named Burger King National Scholar Athlete of the Week.

Leading rusher Mike McKenzie ran for a total of 844 yards, averaging 94 yards a game.

The All-SCAC lineup:

First team: Ryan Miles and Mike McKenzie. Second team: Lyle Bennett and Wes Ingram. Honorable Mention: Beau Pollard, Trinity McKenzie, and Nathan Byrd.

INSTRUCTION.

Sophomore quarterback Blake Huggard worked with new Offensive Coordinator Mike Muschamp. Huggard had 47 completions for 606 yards.

Leading the nation with 19.5 saves per game, freshman goalie Christine Koenig was named to the Second Team All SCAC.

Injuries plagued the women's soccer team with April Slayden and Kelli Crossland both suffering from broken legs. Veteran player Murray Pace tore her ACL and MCL during the season opener.

Seventy-five percent of the Lady Majors earned a grade point average of 3.25 or higher, placing them on the SCAC Honor Roll.

As a result of injuries to key players, seven freshmen became starters and gained valuable experience.

Asst. Coach Sergio Moura brought an energetic flair to his position as coach. He previously coached for an internationally recognized Brazilian team. With the ladies' team, his methods included combining technical drills with conditioning work during the daily hour-and-a-half practices.

Many new faces joined the men's soccer team this year. A number of transfer students and incoming freshmen added experience and energy to the existing team.

Brad Biard, a transfer student from Belhaven, set two school records. He accumulated a total of nineteen goals and forty-three points during the season. Biard was also named to the All SCAC first team.

Both the men's and women's teams travelled together, sometimes in the "luxury" of a 1998 Eurocoach. However, the men's team always controlled the VCR, choosing to watch such movies as Hoosiers, Enter the Dragon, and Braveheart.

Freshman goal

keeper and co-captain Josh Wilson protected the net with a goals against average of 2.03.

Summer plans for the team included a trip to Brazil, where the team would train and play with top players from around the world.

LEADER. Co-captain Leigh Brasuell led the team with 430 digs for the season.

making history

THE INSIDE TRACK

Winning: With the best season in the history of volleyball at the college, the team's ethic of hard work and determination was a template for all the other teams to follow.

A highlight of the season came when the team defeated Southwestern, the defending conference champions, two out of the three times that the teams met.

Sophomore Anna Gustafson led the team with 445 kills during the season. Because of her record, Gustafson was selected to the first team All SCAC.

All SCAC recognition also went to Elana Campagna (second team) and Sarah Casey (third team).

Peter Cosmiano made a successful transition from assistant coach at New Mexico Highlands into his head coaching position at Millsaps. He helped the team earn a third place finish in the conference.

During the off season, the team not only trained but also participated in some volunteer activities, such as directing traffic for the Tour de Fleur and refereeing for Junior Olympic Tournaments.

Freshman post player Keely Mixon was also selected as an Honorable Mention All SCAC player. Mixon led the Lady Majors with 15.2 points per game, placing her fourth in scoring in the conference. She averaged 8.2

rebounds per game, ranking her third in the SCAC.

Deneá Little, a freshman team member, accumulated a total of seventy steals for the season, breaking the Millsaps all-time record. Her steals record ranked her second in the SCAC.

On a humorous note, the team's unofficial motto for the season became "the few, the proud" due to the numerous injuries.

On a frigid weekend in February, the men's team competed in the Bell South Intercollegiate Golf Tournament at nearby Castlewoods Country Club. The men finished 19th of the 23 teams.

The men travelled to Gainesville, GA, to play in the prestigious Emory Invitational. Drew Sill and Dwayne Townsend shot the lowest team scores for the weekend.

Coach Wise was pleased with the performance and possibilities of his team. With four of the five players returning, he had hopes for increased interest in Lady Major Golf.

A highlight came at the end of the season for both the men's and women's teams with the SCAC Championship held at the Quarry Golf Course in San Antonio, Texas.

Running smoothly

New students were divided on Move-in Day into twenty-seven groups to begin an orientation process which lasted ten weeks. As co-directors of the program, Ashley Bass and Dan Walker began work in May to help the first day run smoothly.

Viewpoint

"One of the most memorable parts of my Perspectives group was when we went to our professor's house for dinner. This was one of the most impressive parts of the program. It showed that the faculty really cared for the group. It was so relaxing to eat home-cooked food and to socialize."

Proactive involvement

Vision and commitment

LEAD served students and organizations to help build leadership and involvement through Emerging LEADers, the Summits, and Project LEAD.

Tower of power

The Summits gave leaders a chance to evaluate their groups during a morning of purposeful activities. Carla Morrison and Kelli Crossland build a straw tower to explain the structure of Chi Omega.

Back to the Big House

"The most memorable event is always our annual retreat to the Big House.

The retreat is a time to look back on the past year and decide what areas need a little changing and what new programs we need to start. The people invited on the retreat who are not members of the LEAD Team always give a fresh outlook on what LEAD needs to keep or change."

On a mission

One purpose and one God

"As the priest rang the mission bell, people began to emerge from their little houses to meet in the churchyard: old men and women, babies, teenage girls, middle-aged women, and a few men wearing boots and ten-gallon hats. Some were wearing tattered clothes; some had no shoes. As they filled the church, the room filled with an air of living poverty. We were there for one purpose and one God, and the differences in race and culture melded together under one roof as the Monsignor spoke a Spanish mass."

If I had that job, I'd shoot myself ... New York trip: Silver Crown from CSPA and the St. Patrick's Day Parade ... My fonts will not print ... Moving to Franklin ... Whose idea was the bulletin boards? ... Tootsie Roll sculptures ... Rhonda is in charge of morale ... The circular pictures won the award ... Krazee Kate and Tracy ... Mini Pics Art Jam and Giddyup Thangs ... Little Debbies in the Food Drawer ... The search for Flickr at the bottom of the Dr. Pepper cans ... Do you eat gyros to forget? ... When are you taking us to Shapley's? ... Planning for the year 2000 ... Listening to the animals run laps above us in the old Student Center ... The big decision: where do we eat next?

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Thanks to: Dean David Sneed, Sandy Rhymes, and the rest of the Student Affairs staff for their cooperation and support; the Business Office for handling yearbook orders and billing; Chris Coleman of Graduate Supply House for his encouragement; Gwenyth Winston and Jennifer Hoover of Herff Jones for in plant help; the Post Office staff for assisting with yearbook distribution; the Maintenance staff for moving us and setting up the new darkroom; Mark Hinkle for some pictures on the soccer and volleyball spreads; Tom Roster for a few pictures on the Homecoming spread; Sherri Taylor for design ideas; Rich Moser for help with team pictures and statistics; teachers and students for donating pictures for the book and items for the bulletin board dividers.

PURPOSE

Our mission was to serve and delight the students of Millsaps. We wanted to stimulate and positively affect our own group and our community. All that the staff did was accomplished with committed determination, innovation, and the highest level of excellence. Our expectations were exceeded, spirits lifted, and possibilities expanded. I want to thank the staff for their dedication to telling every person's story and getting it right.

coming into view

We will go forth from Millsaps. We will leave the gates and enter an ever-changing world. Some things about us will change, but some will not. We will always think of our time here when we hear the clear ring of a belltower or when we see the warm pink of an azalea bloom. We will never leave this past behind. Pieces of our lives will remind us of a time that will never be simply the past. And we will realize that we may leave Millsaps, but Millsaps will never leave us.

These became a part of that child who went forth, and who now goes, and will always go forth every day
Walt Whitman, from "There Was a Child Went Forth"
